In PBB Wikia, they are only used for the couple's PokÄ© Mon, such as showing rivals Jake and Tess 'PokÄ© Mon when they fight alongside Route 8 and in the Anthia sewer. Alola PokÄ© Mon and some recently introduced forms use Sun and Moon Sprites. The suffix must be one of the following, depending on which game is entered the PokÄ© Mon (or form): PokÄ© mon X and Y: XY PokÄ© Mon Omega Ruby and Alpha Sapphire: oras PokÄ© mon Sun and Moon: sm PokÄ© Mon Ultra Sun and Ultra Moon: USUM The game mainly uses X and Y Sprites, but some forms of mega evolutionÄ n ³ or reversiÄ n primordial ³ use or / as sprites. They are not used in the game, but are still used in the Wikia of PBB. Each of them has a different use and again, requires a different file name standard, as listed ³ below. To standardize file names, formats, and licensing, here are the image guidelines for PBB Wikia. The menu sprites are those shown on the screen of the menu PokÄ© Mon. Sorue Sprites Dream World Sprites, or Sprites Global Link Sprites, are articles that are shown in the Dream World of PokÄ© and the global link PokÄ© Mon. Their file names should be "(artÄ) mineing.png", for example. "Call mineing.png board." File names must be in the format "(PokÄ© mon) - (Form) - (suffix) _ (suffix) .gif". Mining sprites Mining sprites are the appearance ³ articles when quoted in Sinnoh Underground, which is only presented in PokÄ© Mon Diamond, Pearl and Platinum. Most of the PokÄ© Mon Brick Bronze Wikia pages require certain photos to be used. Almost all are available in 24px, although some articles like Super Rod may come in 25px. VS vs screens are shown before major battles, such as gym and league matches, or against the Eclipse boss. It's the files most used here. Item Sprites These are photos of items that are used in the game. They all come in 150px and should be named "(badge name) BADGE.PNG", like "bow badge.png".
